WASHINGTON-HOYT'S ART MOVEMENT

There's a modern art movement starting after school at Washington - Hoyt . It's called WHAM: Washington Hoyt's Art Movement, and your child can be part of it. WHAM is a year-long program that's a fun and exciting way for children to learn and apply the techniques of famous Modern Artists. In twenty-five classes, from October to May, WHAM will cover a hundred years of Modern Art, starting with the Impressionist Movement of the mid 19th century and finishing with the Pop Art Movement of the mid 20th century. WHAM will explore Art Nouveau, Cubism, Dadaism, Expressionism, and much more. For more info, contact Paul Blanchard or email WHAM at tacoma@harbournet.com.
